CHIANG'S CLARION CALL Accuses Reds Of Being Tools Of World Plot FEARS WORLD WAR III

Shanghai, April 27.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek predicted today that China may become the tinderbox of a terrifying third world war if the Communists are not defeated.

Breaking a four-month silence since his retirement from the Presidency on January 21, Chiang called for support of the Government of Acting President Li Tsung-jen. Chiang spoke as Director-General of the Kuomintang (Government) Party.

As Chiang's statement was released by the Central News Agency, the Communists were reported to have taken Soochow (Wuhsien), 50 miles West of Shanghai.

Chiang's statement bore a Chikow dateline but both Chinese and foreign newspapers insisted the Generalissimo was in Shanghai.

Chiang said the Communists were seeking to "enslave the Chinese people to the cause of international Communism by attempting to make all China the military base and source of manpower for the benefit of the Communist plan for world domination."

Chiang, who promised full support to the Government of Li, nevertheless, may have chosen this means of coming from retirement to lead China in her battle against Communism.

He called on his people to fight as hard against Communism as they did against the Japanese in eight years of war. At the same time, he admitted some of the shortcomings of his own 22-year rule of the vast country.

Reds Blunder

The Generalissimo said the Reds by crossing the Yangtze had blundered into the same military errors that ruined the Japanese in their conquest of China.

The river crossing, he said, represents the "peak of Communist military development." It will bring the Reds "face to face with the twofold mass of military, political and economic problems which will eventually result in their downfall."

"I am certain," he said, "that so long as we carry on the struggle the Communists can neither enslave nor destroy our country. Within three years the final victory will be ours."

He recalled that only four years ago Nanking was liberated from the Japanese.

"We are confronted," said Chiang, "by a dark, brutal force which seeks to rob our people of their liberty, destroy the independence of our nation and threaten the peace of the entire world."

"In this struggle, the life and liberty of every one of our people is tied with the life of the nation," he continued. "Although I retired from the post of President, I feel I cannot lightly disregard my responsibility as a citizen at a time our country is faced with danger, our people on the brink of disaster. I wish to pledge at this time of crisis that I shall share the sufferings of my fellow countrymen."

International Implications

Chiang said his Government realised that Communism was a problem of international implications that China alone could not settle. If that problem in China could have been settled through peaceful and political means, Chiang went on, he felt that it would help establish a basis for world peace.

"It was with this realization that the Nationalist Government in good faith called the political consultative conference and accepted the good offices of the United States for mediation."

"Despite these efforts," said the Generalissimo, "the Communists never showed serious intention to bring about a peaceful settlement. Negotiations dragged on for more than a year and the Communists took advantage of the talks to seize Manchuria."

Communist crossing of the Yellow River into Central China forced the Government to take necessary military measures against them, Chiang explained. "We realised that if efforts toward suppressing the Commun-

Reds Active On Hainan

Hong Kong, April 27. Four thousand Communist troops on Hainan Island off the South China coast wiped out one battalion of Nationalist troops guarding an iron mine in Shihlu on the West coast, according to arrivals from the island.

ist military could not be successfully concluded within one or two years, not only the Chinese people would undergo untold sufferings but the security and peace of all Asia as well as the whole world would be threatened directly.

"If We Should Fail"

"We were constantly faced with the dreadful possibility that if we should fail, China would become the tinderbox of a world war, in which every nation of the world would be tragically involved."

Chiang placed some of the blame for the military and political shortcomings of his regime on the general misapprehension of Communist intentions among certain sections of the Chinese and the foreign public as well as the inroads made by Communist fifth column activities in China and abroad.

"As a result, Chinese domestic political developments as well as international diplomatic activities failed to produce the conditions necessary for the success of the Government's military. The morale of both the people and the armed forces fell to such low ebb that the general position of the Government became critical."

Chiang pointed out that during Li's peace efforts with the Reds they openly announced they would fight side by side with the Soviet Union in the event of a third world war.

He called this a "shameless admission the Chinese Communist Party was the willing tool of international Communism."

No Intention For Peace

Chiang charged the Reds have no intention for peace. Recent actions "prove that the ultimate aim of the Chinese Communists is the conquest and final subjugation of China so that this country could be conveniently used as a base for the third world war and the Chinese people its cannon fodder for aggressive world Communism."

"No nation which desires to be free can shun the responsibility which China is now bearing as a result of her tragic struggle," Chiang said.

He called Communist Mao Tse-tung a "far more dangerous traitor to China than the Japanese puppet Wang Ching-wei (President of Japanese-controlled China during the war) who, during the war, tried to make an individual peace with the Japanese."

Chiang said Wang was merely went but Mao in allying himself to international Communism, was far more ambitious and dangerous. "Because he is seeking to enslave and destroy his own nation."

Fall Of Soochow

The Communists today moved close toward Shanghai after a two-day battle overrunning the key outpost of Soochow, 50 miles West, and sending advance raiders within 25 miles of this restive and fearful metropolis.

Regrouped and refreshed, the Communist armies edged forward to positions from which they could launch a two-pronged drive on Shanghai or to isolate it by slicing across to the sea North West of the city.

The renewed Communist drive brought massive reinforcements into position around a broad area through Soochow and Kwangteh, some 45 miles North West of Hangchow. A sudden thrust to Hangchow, great rail and port city would cut off Shanghai.

The Nationalists admitted that the Communists captured Soochow, which controls the main road and rail lines East to Shanghai and was the last strategic outpost at which a stand might have been made outside of Shanghai itself.

There were indications of a major battle shaping up between the Communists bidding for an easy spring to Hangchow. That would enable them to wait and wait for Shanghai to fall of its own weight.

Spurred by the new Communist advances, the exodus from Shanghai is being stepped up. The Central Bank of China sent part of its staff to Canton and prepared to move out entirely.

A Chinese naval unit, consisting of former Japanese destroyers, together with several smaller craft left the city, loaded to capacity with men and equipment.

To Protect Foreigners

The Shanghai Garrison authorities announced full protection for foreign residents, including diplomatic representatives. They said the unruly elements, trying to harm foreign residents, would be dealt with under martial law provisions.

Several hundred students suspected of having pro-Communist leanings have been arrested by the local authorities in a drive against possible fifth columnists in the city, according to Chinese reports today.

Arrivals Vague About Shanghai

Opinion about developments in the Shanghai area, as expressed by passengers arriving by air yesterday, reflected considerable confusion. The question brought forth answers which put the Reds anywhere from 10 to 30 miles from the city.

How soon did they think the city would fall? The belief among the well-to-do Chinese passengers was that it would be no longer than three or four days.

Some foreigners sounded a more optimistic note. One British businessman said: "I think it might hold out for several more weeks."

The situation in Shanghai itself and at Lungtzu, Airfield seemed to have quieted down somewhat. Although economic conditions remain chaotic, the dangers appear to have succeeded in preventing any panic or looting.

Silver Dollars

The silver dollar continues to be in great demand, and as one passenger remarked: "Without them, you can't do anything."

Business is at a standstill as a result of the cash shortage. However, there is apparently no food shortage. Most people have laid in a supply ahead of time. Ten planes bound for Shanghai from Hong Kong took off early yesterday morning. Several others followed in the afternoon and evening. The number of people going to Shanghai yesterday was less than half the former average, while the number arriving in Hong Kong continued to be more than double. Several planes made the trip to Shanghai empty yesterday morning.

Accommodation Ready

"Yes, we had seen to that," they replied when asked whether they had accommodation prepared. Several flats had already been reserved for the friends.

According to these passengers, many had already quit Shanghai by train or by plane when news of the sudden Red crossing of the Yangtze came through. "But they had to pay and how!" a foreigner, declining identification, declared.

"It was not uncommon to hear of gold bars being offered as payment for a ticket...and not one or two," he said.

At least 70 per cent of the refugees were Government officials, deserting their posts, some travelers fleeing, the rest fled because they were probably carried away by rumors of Red terror.

"But the majority of the laborers and poorer class are remaining behind, hopeful of better days under Red administration," they declared.

When There Is Peace

Most of yesterday's arrivals were surprisingly unanimous on one point—they will probably return when everything is peace in China, irrespective of what Government holds sway there.

"We are actually running away not from the Red terror, but from the inevitable consequences of one invading army occupying a city. Look at Nanking. With all the looting and chaos, before and after the Red entry," they stated.

SHANGHAI HEARS CANNON FIRE

Shanghai, April 27. Cannon fire was heard in this city early this morning. The Garrison Headquarters explained quickly that the rumbling was coming from Army testing field pieces.—United Press.

British Evacuees Advised

Shanghai, April 27. British evacuees for Hong Kong already processed were officially notified this morning by the British Consulate-General to call at the shipping office of the Consulate today for steamship tickets which will be issued by the representative of the Java China Packet Line Ltd.

The British Consulate notice advised all intending passengers to bring with them their passport, money, passport and international vaccination certificates.

The exact number of British evacuees is unknown but they are believed not to be considerable.

Yesterday was moving day for Americans in Shanghai—so will be today and tomorrow.

About 100 Americans, mostly women and children, boarded Naval vessels yesterday. Another group of more than 60 will board the President Line's Wilson which is arriving this morning and departing tomorrow. APL is putting cots in the dining salons and elsewhere to accommodate 150 extra passengers.—Reuter and Associated Press.

Philippine President Cleared

Manila, April 27. A special House of Representatives committee, by a 5-2 vote, decided tonight there were no good grounds for impeachment proceedings against President Quirino.

The committee will recommend on April 28 that the House dismiss the five charges in the impeachment resolution filed by Mr. Quirino's political opponents. The committee majority said the charges constitute neither willful violation of the Constitution nor high crime.—Associated Press.

U.S. Cruisers China-Bound

Pearl Harbor, April 27. The American heavy cruiser St. Paul and the light cruiser Manchester will sail from Pearl Harbor for China waters next Saturday, Pacific Fleet Headquarters announced.

The cruisers will relieve the light cruisers Pasadena and Springfield, now at Western Pacific stations.

Relief at this time places two additional large warships at the disposal of the U.S. Western Pacific Commander in case of emergency.

Four destroyers will accompany the cruisers.—Associated Press.

UNOFFICIALS WANT A RECONSTITUTED LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

The proposed Municipal Council for Hong Kong should be abandoned, and in its place a reconstituted Legislative Council of nine official members including the Governor, and 11 Unofficial members, should be set up, urges a motion which the Unofficial members will file with Government.

Notice of the motion was given by Mr. D. F. Landale, senior Unofficial member, at yesterday's meeting of the Legislative Council. He said that the motion would not be moved for another six weeks so as to give time for public opinion to be assessed.

Dr. Stuart Heard From

Washington, April 27. The U.S. State Department said on Tuesday it was in radio communication with Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart in Communist-occupied Nanking.

Officials assume the envoy is free to move around, following the invasion of the Embassy residence early Monday by armed Communist soldiers.—Associated Press.

Giving notice of the motion Mr. Landale said that for more than a year he and his Unofficial colleagues had been far from convinced that the proposals set out in Sir Mark Young's despatch of October 22, 1946, were what the genuine inhabitants of the Colony desired.

"During this time," continued Mr. Landale, "we have both collectively and individually made inquiries as to whether His Majesty's Government was prepared to consider alternative proposals."

The first indication that His Majesty's Government was prepared to consider alternative proposals was made public in the report of the Press conference given by Mr. Baskin, an Assistant Under Secretary in the Colonial Office, on January 19, 1949; and you, sir, in your closing remarks on the budget debate invited us to forward alternatives.

"This I now do by means of this motion which has the support of all my Unofficial colleagues."

"We do not propose to move it for six weeks, or so, in order to give us an opportunity to assess public opinion on it."

The text of the motion is as follows: "The publication of the despatch of the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for the Colonies dated 3rd July, 1947, in which he gave general approval subject to minor modifications to the recommendations submitted by Sir Mark Young and contained in his despatch No. 145 of October 22, 1946, it has become increasingly evident that in the view of the general public of Hong Kong, proposals of Sir Mark Young involving the creation of a Municipal Council and minor modifications of the constitution of the Legislative Council are no longer considered to be the best means of giving to the inhabitants of the Colony a fuller and more responsible share in the management of their own affairs."

(a) The proposals of Sir Mark Young involving the creation of a Municipal Council and minor modifications of the constitution of the Legislative Council are no longer considered to be the best means of giving to the inhabitants of the Colony a fuller and more responsible share in the management of their own affairs; (b) Sufficient consideration was not given to alternative methods of achieving this object; (c) The most effective means of achieving this object is a fundamental modification of the Constitution of the Legislative Council.

More Responsible Share

Therefore in order to make known to His Majesty's Government as soon as possible the present views of the Colony it is hereby moved that for the purpose of affording the inhabitants of the Colony a fuller and more responsible share in the management of their own affairs: (1) The present proposal for the establishment of a Municipal Council be abandoned; (2) The constitution of the Legislative Council should be constituted as follows: an Official membership of 20 with an Official membership of 11 consisting of members elected by qualified residents of the Colony, Nationality of the Governor to be determined by the Governor. The Governor to have an original and casting vote and the usual reserve power.

(3) After the constitution of the Legislative Council has been modified as above indicated in the Legislative Council shall consider whether and if so, what extent, the constitution of the Urban Council should be modified with the view to securing for the Urban Council greater measure of direct representation and an increase in financial and administrative powers in municipal affairs.

Counsel then asked witness whether or not any traffic summonses had been served against him by the beginning of June 2, to which witness agreed. Up to that time, he added, there had been some summonses served on him, but there were none that day, but he was not sure of it.

These summonses, witness said, were in respect of offenses regarding driving on the wrong side of the road and taking passengers in excess of driving too fast. In all cases, he added, he was the driver of the vehicle concerned.

Two Accused Of Gangsterism

Two alleged members of a bandit gang which had been terrorising two villages in the border between December 18 and 20 last year, were charged before the Puijane Judge (Mr. Justice Williams) yesterday.

They were Wong Yee-cheung, aged 27, and Tang Yip alias Tang Kan-yip, aged 29; and the charges against them were demanding with intent to steal two to three piculs of unhusked rice from Cheung Tung-kwai, and possession of short firearms.

Both denied the charge, and neither was legally represented.

Shop-Keepers Fined

Fifteen shop-keepers were summoned before the Justices of the Peace court at Central, yesterday for breaches of Price Control regulations.

Two were fined ranging from $30 to $200, for selling provisions, over the controlled price and for having no price tags.

They were: Hon Shing, of 103, Queen's Road, East, Lin Lee, of 91, Hennessy Road, Wo Sang, of 2, Tsang Tsung Street, Tai Lee Hong, of 40, Queen's Road, East, Tak Yuen, situated at the gate door at 312, Lockhart Road, Sun Yuen Cafe, of 131, Main Street, East, Man Sang, of 10, Queen's Road, East, Shun Fung Hong, of 13, Queen Victoria Street, Kee Hing Yuen, of 65, Queen's Road, Central and Yuen Cheung of 172, Hollywood Road.

For over-charging, Shing Cheung Provision Store, of 33, Shaw Wo Road, Hongkong Store, of 307, Lockhart Road and Chun Cheung, of 165, Hollywood Road were fined $75, $25 and $50, respectively.

S. Chang, of the Chuen Tai Company and Lee Cheung, of Cheung Leung Store were reprimanded for a week.

Mr. J. H. G. Pittman of the S. T. and I. Department prosecuted.

WOMAN FINED $2,000

Judgment was given by Mr. Hin-shing Lo at Central yesterday in the case in which Yuen Siu, an unemployed woman, 41 years old, was charged with possession of four packets of opium valued at $4,200.

Finding defendant guilty, the magistrate fined her $2,000 or six months in default and ordered that the opium be confiscated.

The case for the prosecution was that on information received by Revenue Inspector Millington with a party of Chinese Revenue officers raided No. 20, Centre Street, 2nd floor on January 25, 1940.

In the rear cubicle of the floor they found three packets of raw opium concealed in a cavity between two halves of a brick. Another packet was found hidden in a hollow portion of the partition caused by the sliding door of the rear cubicle.

Two women, including defendant, were found on the floor at the time of the raid. Defendant was arrested and subsequently charged.

Mr. A. El Arculli, counsel for the defence, submitted that Mr. Millington's knowledge of Chinese, though good, still leaves room for misunderstanding. He argued that defendant's alleged admissions after the arrest were the results of questions put to her and were inadmissible, being in violation of the Judges' Rules.

Defendant giving her defence in the witness box stated that she was a visitor, having arrived at the premises from the country the day before the incident. This, she said, was corroborated by the deceased principal tenant's wife and Yuen Sze, the occupant of one of the back spaces on the floor.

She maintained that her younger brother and his wife occupied the rear cubicle. This was also corroborated. Both these people, she said, had not been seen or heard of since her arrest. She denied having made the alleged admissions that she was the owner of the opium found, and that she was the occupier of the rear cubicle.

Case Of Allen Registration

After another successful admission yesterday by Mr. Griffiths on behalf of Samuel Wirt High, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, USA, Mr. d'Almeida at Central yesterday dismissed the charge of failing to report to the Immigration Authority within 48 hours after his arrival.

High was originally charged with failing to furnish particulars to the Registrar of Aliens, to report to the Immigration Authority within 48 hours and to report change of address.

The charge on failing to report change of address was withdrawn by Inspector Jones at the previous hearing when Mr. Griffiths made a submission, saying that defendant had never stayed at the address given to the police upon defendant's arrival.

The charge of failing to furnish particulars to the Registrar of Aliens will be heard on May 10.

HMS Belfast Leaves Colony For Woosung

HMS Belfast left Hong Kong for Woosung at 2 p.m. on Tuesday. It was both ways yesterday. Belfast is due to arrive off the Yangtze this morning.

Belfast was ordered to Woosung by Vice-Admiral A. C. G. Madden, Flag Officer, Second-in-Command, Far East Station.

Admiral Madden will transfer from HMS London to HMS Belfast with his staff.

Forgery Alleged In Cemetery Burial Papers

Hearing began yesterday at Central on the alleged forgery of a burial certificate by Clementino Maria Almaraz, aged 68, sexton of the Roman Catholic Cemetery at Happy Valley.

Margaret Tse, 51, married woman, was charged with aiding and abetting Almaraz in the offence.

Both defendants were represented by Mr. A. El Arculli.

Opening the case for the prosecution, Detective Inspector Saul said that about three years ago, Father Gramma, in charge of the Roman Catholic cemetery, Happy Valley, became suspicious that non-Catholics were being buried there.

As a preventive measure, the Father introduced a system whereby printed forms would be kept at St. Paul's Hospital and at the Italian Convent, China Road.

In the event of a death occurring at either of the above institutions, forms would be filled in by a priest or a sister.

The printed forms were, Inspector Saul continued, addressed to the Inspector of Cemetery and are only for deceased Catholics.

These forms would then be taken to the undertaker by the sexton or his representative.

The undertaker would then turn hand it to the sexton of the Cemetery before the funeral.

The sexton would then enter particulars on the form in the Register of deaths, kept at the Cemetery office, and also in his own loose record sheet.

All these would be checked by Father Gramma at the end of each month and if he was satisfied the forms were then burnt.

Inspector Saul said that on February 10, 1940, Father Feroldi acting on information, went to the sexton's office at the Cemetery and took possession of a few burial forms apparently signed by Sister Ambrose of St. Paul's Hospital.

He took one form dated February 6, 1940 to Sister Ambrose at the hospital, and she stated that the signature was not hers.

On the day in question, she said, she was ill in bed. She then gave Father Feroldi a blank form bearing her specimen signature.

Prosecuting counsel stated that there was a difference in paper and colour between the form used by Sister Ambrose and alleged forged one.

Corroborative evidence was given by Sister Ambrose at yesterday's hearing.

The case will be continued today.

CONTRABAND CARGO SEIZED

A considerable amount of contraband cargo was seized by the Revenue Department yesterday.

Some 172 bundles of general merchandise were found on board the ss. Changtze just before she left for Japan. The goods were not on the ship's manifest.

The goods were valued at HK$175,000.

Work Of Fanling Babies' Home Told

"We hope that some of the children of the Fanling Babies' Home will some day respond to the call for Christian teachers and nurses for their own country—the great land of China as surely tried and torn asunder by strife and war."

The foregoing was said by Mr. Hugh Braga, Chairman of the Field Advisory Committee of the Fanling Babies' Home, in a speech at its annual meeting held at St. Andrew's Church yesterday.

He said, "It is our fervent prayer that the Home may contribute, in a small measure, to the spreading of the gospel of peace which can be obtained only through our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."

Continuing, Mr. Braga said that the Fanling Babies' Home is not just an orphanage, but is actually a home. Miss Mildred E. Didden, founder of the Home, is not only in name, but also in fact "mother" to the children, he added.

Happy Faces
This is the secret, he added, why every visitor to the Home is received with a spontaneous welcome by every child and all who have been there have remarked on the cheerful happy faces with which they have been greeted.

Explaining the finances of the Babies' Home, Mr. Braga said "Our biggest single source of income is from China's Children Fund. This great American organization, which exists solely for the purpose of caring for orphans, not only supports nearly half of the total number of children in the Home but also owns the property which now houses the children which is thus free of rent."

"The method of support by China's Children Fund is interesting. The organization finds someone, or a group of persons, who is willing to support a child. Direct contact is made with an orphanage and the sponsor knows the actual child for whom he provides. In the case of the Fanling Babies' Home 56 of the children are supported in this way through China's Children Fund."

The Chairman emphasised that Miss Didden made no appeals for funds for the Home. "We are grateful to all those who have given, either in money or in kind, towards the support of the children."

Older Children
Mr. Braga said that they are hoping to begin shortly on preparing certain buildings for older children. "As the Home has been functioning for nearly 13 years," he added, "it is time for these children to be separated from the babies."

"We trust that by next year schooling for the older ones will be possible under better conditions than we are able to give them now."

Relating the story as to how the Home was founded, Mr. Braga said that as nobody felt competent to undertake the job of taking care of unwanted Chinese babies, Miss Mildred Didden who had lived in Hong Kong answered the call.

She returned to Hong Kong from England to open a Babies' Home on November 11, 1930. The Home occupied a flat at the rear of Catherine Building and as the number of babies increased complaints were received from the residents in the vicinity.

In fact, if any baby in the locality cried, the newly founded Babies' Home was invariably blamed for it.

ILLEGAL STRIKE AND LOCK-OUT BILL NOW LAW

The Illegal Strikes and lock-out Ordinance 1940 was passed into law yesterday by Legislative Council without amendment.

The Bill, which came up for first reading a fortnight ago, bans strikes and lock-outs motivated by political objectives.

Other bills enacted yesterday were:

- An Ordinance to amend and consolidate the law relating to the District Watch Force.
- An Ordinance to amend the Stamp Ordinance 1914.
- An Ordinance to provide for the incorporation of the President in Hong Kong of the China Penal Missionary Society.
- An Ordinance to authorise the making of by-laws by the North Point Wharves Limited.

Up for first reading was the Zeland Hall Trustees Incorporation (Amendment) Ordinance 1940, which amends the principal ordinance of 1922.

The object of the amendment is to extend the number of lodges that may be admitted and to bring into the Corporation the representatives of these other lodges.

The motion, moved by Mr. D. F. Landale and seconded by Mr. T. N. Chau, was carried unanimously.

Mr. C. Blaker was sworn in as a member of Council yesterday, as acting member for the Hong Kong General Chamber of Commerce in place of Mr. P. S. Cassidy on leave.

Can a can break?

That's one of the good points about Barclay's in cans. If you drop a can it doesn't mean that there may not be enough Barclay's to go round.

An end to the breakage bogey—it's a sound reason for cans in itself.

"The Authority on Authority"

SCARING THE TIMID IF YOU ARE timid and scared, and if your opponents have learned that about you, they are pretty likely to take advantage of their knowledge to victimize you. One old gag tried by imaginative comedians against such players is the double of a contract which they feel sure you can make profitably, in the hope that they will make you flee into a different one which is not so good for you. The thing to do then is stick by your guns, unless you have plenty of doubt about the situation in which you found yourself before the double.

As the bidding went, South felt that East would make his 3-No Trumps easily, probably with one or more extra tricks, which would give him a fine score in the match-point tournament. That would, of course, mean a bad score for North and South.

Besides his feelings about the matter, South also knew East as a timid soul, who considered his partner a better player than himself. East had bid No Trumps only once and had supported West's clubs on his own second turn. So it occurred to South that a double of the 3-No Trumps might make East escape into clubs, a contract in which extra tricks probably would be out of the question since North had enough strength for an overcall. The double worked like a charm. It did scare East into fleeing to 5-Clubs. The contract got made, with the loss of two tricks to North's ace, but extras were out of the question. Most other East-West pairs played the deal at 3-No Trumps and all made one or two extra tricks, which this East also could have made, without exercising any skill at all.

QUICK ACTION WANTED ON ITALIAN COLONIES

Independence For Libya Demanded

Lake Success, April 27.
In a press statement, Man-four Kaddara, Secretary-General of the National Council for the Liberation of Libya, demanded full independence for all Libya.
He said: "We will resist with all the means at our disposal any settlement which does not recognize the unity of our country and our sacred rights to a free, peaceful and dignified life."
"An independent Libya is indeed the only solution which would conform to the principles of the charter of the United Nations and the provisions of the Italian peace treaty." — Associated Press.

Prisoners' Anti-Bao Outburst

Saigon, April 26.
The noise of shouting and singing, heard from outside the Salgon Central Prison today, is understood to be a demonstration by Vietnamese (the Indo-Chinese autonomy movement) political prisoners against the return to Indo-China of the ex-Emperor of An-nam, Bao Dai.
This is to head the new Vietnam State, envisaged in his March 8 agreement with the French Government.

The demonstration lasted two hours.
A delegation headed by General Nguyen Van Xuan, head of the Provisional Central Govern-
day for Singapore to meet Bao Dai.

Bao Dai left Cannes by air on Sunday for Indochina, where he is expected to become head of the new State of Vietnam. The delegation will accompany him to Dahat, in Southern Annam.

The delegation include M. Tran Van Huu, President of the Provisional Government of South Vietnam, and M. Huy Phien Hai, President of the Territorial Assembly of Cochinchina, which recently voted for Cochinchina's inclusion in Vietnam.—Reuter.

MAKING WILLS HER HOBBY

Edinburgh, April 26.
Incomplete or unsigned wills were found after the death of Miss Annie Moon, of Fife, Scotland, in 1945. The Court of Session here was told today. She left £51,000.

Miss Moon, described as a lady with a hobby of making wills, was found by the Court to have made a valid will in 1941.—

Lake Success, April 27.
Britain is reported to be ready to seek separate United Nations action on Cyrenaica if the General Assembly is unable at its present session to decide on the disposition of Italy's pre-war colonies.

A British spokesman told reporters that there still appears to be no agreement on a solution to the problem as a whole, and a postponement until the session in the Autumn may be the only course open.

He said, however, that Britain still hopes to get action now on the United States proposal that Cyrenaica be placed under a UN trusteeship system under British administration.

Other former colonies involved in the debate before the Assembly's Political Committee are Italian Somaliland, Eritrea and other parts of Libya, Tripolitania and Fezzan.

Eric Loefer, of South Africa said it had been shown in the debate that some countries want to "punish the new Italy" for the old.

Said he: "This is a spirit of vengeance not in accord with the spirit of the United Nations."
He called for a quick settlement of the problem, saying:
"The effect on the colonies and on Italy itself may be very serious."

Syrian Warning

South Africa favoured giving Ethiopia an outlet to the Red Sea through Eritrea and trustee-ships for Britain in Cyrenaica, France in the Fezzan and Italy in Tripolitania and Somaliland.
He said there was in a large measure agreement on the disposal of all the colonies except Tripolitania and Eritrea.

Rafik Asha, the Syrian delegate, opposed the return of any colonies to Italy, contending that the burden would be too heavy and the cost too great for Italy to bear.

He maintained that the inhabitants are unanimous in one thing —they fear a return to Italian rule.
The Syrian said: "We have heard representatives of the people say they will resist a return to Italy. Do you think the Arabs will stand by while the Italians sail down the Suez Canal? Will the United States stand aside and see dollars given to Italy used in crushing resistance?"

HIROHITO GETTING A VERY BAD PRESS

Tokyo, April 27.

On the eve of Emperor Hirohito's birthday, General MacArthur's Headquarters today published an analysis of Japanese magazine articles which shows that Japan's once god-like ruler is getting the worst press since the surrender.
Hirohito, who will be 48 on Friday, is becoming a target for increased criticism by both left and right wing intellectuals, the survey shows.

Japanese writers, university professors and scientists are advocating everything from outright abolition of the emperor system to the Emperor's abdication for his war responsibility as the best means of saving the imperial institution.

The SCAP publication analysis said: "Many of the attacks on the Emperor and the Imperial Institution come from known Communist sources, but the advocates of abdication are by no means limited to the Communists. On the other hand, a few pro-Emperor writers appear in print."

The analysis attributes the articles as reaction to the Tokyo war crimes verdicts and the execution of Hiroki Tojo and six of his co-defendants.
It added that openly expressed opposition to Hirohito and the emperor system, however, does not offer concrete evidence of any significant shift in popular sentiment, which in general has been favourable.

Grave Mistake

Akira Nakamura, chairman of the Hosen University law department, in a magazine article states that failure of the International Military Tribunal to touch on the Emperor's war responsibility was a grave mistake.

A Tokyo University professor, Kazuo Watan, writes that he hopes Hirohito himself will take the initiative in abolishing the emperor system and thus make himself the true object of national veneration.

Meanwhile, the Imperial Household Ministry pushed plans for a nationwide "popularity" tour by the Emperor in mid-May which, the Communists say, is a waste of the people's money.—

TRADES UNION'S POLICY

London, April 26.
The International Committee of the Trades Union Congress met today to draft a policy of future international co-operation for approval by the General Council of the eight million-strong movement tomorrow.

The long-term objective of this policy will be a new international trade union organisation in opposition to the now Communist-led World Federation of Trade Unions.

The American Federation of Labour, which has consistently and powerfully advocated a new organisation without delay, is understood to have suggested that a union committee, bringing together trade union movements from many parts of the world, might be formed in June when delegates from many countries will attend the International Labour Office Conference in Geneva.

This committee, it is suggested, might prepare for a world conference to take place later in the year. It seems doubtful, however, whether the policy to be formally adopted by the TUC tomorrow will be as far-reaching as this.
The discussions at the trade union conferences since January suggest that rank and file backing for a new world organisation will be granted.—Reuter.

DUMPING OF JAP TEXTILES

Patterson, New Jersey, April 27.

A campaign to have Congress place an embargo on Japanese woven silks, rayons and labels has been launched by a Committee of New Jersey textile manufacturers.

The campaign is part of an effort to eliminate what they describe as the ruinous competition forced upon American industry by the military occupation government in Japan.

A Committee spokesman said six months more of the occupation Government's practices in dumping millions of yards of woven Japanese textiles on the American market will bring about an almost complete collapse of the textile industry in the United States.—Associated Press.

RUSSIAN WHEAT FOR INDIA

New Delhi, April 26.

Russia will supply India with 200,000 tons of wheat and 20,000 tons of corn under the third Indo-Russian trade agreement signed on March 31. In exchange, India will send Russia 20,000 tons of raw jute and 7,000 tons of tea.
The first agreement was signed between the two countries in July and the second in February.

REDS' PLANS FOR EASTERN GERMANY

Berlin, April 26.

Russia is reported to be working for the formation of a separate state in Eastern Germany, a sharp reversal of the Soviet insistence on a "United Germany."

Usually well-informed quarters say Moscow has promised German Communist leaders a peace treaty for Eastern Germany.

ERP FINANCING SUM LOWERED

Washington, April 26.
President Truman told Congress today that reductions in prices will make it possible to finance the Marshall Aid Programme with a sum $157,800,000 less than Congress had authorised.

The President was making a formal request to Congress to appropriate speedily the sum of $5,272,200,000 for the Economic Recovery Administration for use until June 30, 1950.

The President said that a number of developments have made it possible to operate the programme for less than the amount authorised, the most important being the price decline in the United States.—Reuter.

Under this plan, all reparations claims will be dropped by Russia as soon as the new East German state is created.
In face of these reports, the German Communists themselves are continuing their propaganda campaign for the establishment of a central German Government, but Allied observers see nothing contradictory in this stand. They believe that the East German state will be a "free saving" recourse if Russia fails to secure Four Power agreement on a central government at the meeting of the Big Four Foreign Ministers.

The official Soviet news agency, Tass, said that the Berlin blockade could be lifted if a date is set for the Foreign Ministers meeting on German questions.

The agreement that Russia will attempt to obtain at any Big Four meeting is expected here to cover the following points:

1. Abandonment of the Western plans to establish a West German state.
2. Establishment of a unified Central government for all of Germany.

3. The signing of a peace treaty with Germany.

4. Withdrawal of all occupation troops some time after the conclusion of the treaty.—

Three-Power Commission For Germany

Washington, April 26.
A three-power Allied High Commission will be the supreme Allied agency of control of Western Germany when the new West German Government, whose basic law (Constitution) was agreed by the Western Allies and the German leaders, comes into being.

This is provided in the text published today of the agreement, signed here on April 8, by Mr. Ernest Bevin,
Mr. Dean Acheson and M.
Robert Schuman.

The agreement also provides for the fusion of the British, the United States and the French Occupation Zones before the entry into force of the "occupation statute" defining the powers to be retained by the Allies when the new German Federal Government takes over.—

Reshuffle In London Embassy

London, April 27.
A big reshuffle in the staff of the Czechoslovak Embassy in London is imminent, diplomatic informants reported yesterday.

Major changes due are:
The Ambassador, Dr. D. Kratochvil, is being transferred to India.

The Counsellor, Edouard Gold-stucker, is to become Czech Ambassador to Israel.

The Press Attaché, Pavel Kavan, is to become Counsellor in M.
Goldstucker's place. Dr. Kratochvil has already informed the Foreign Secretary, Ernest Bevin, that he is going to India. The name of his successor has been submitted to the British Government, but so far there is no clue as to whom it is.

M. Goldstucker probably will leave for Israel next month. He is expected to consolidate the already good Czech-Israeli relations.—Associated Press.

RANGOON CLAIMS NEW SUCCESS

Rangoon, April 26.
A Burmese Government communique said tonight that 40 members of the insurgent White Band People's Volunteer Organization were killed and 50 injured by Government troops in a clash at Wetlet, a railway town in the Shwepyithar district, North of Mandala.

The communique said 300 White Band insurgents attacked the Wetlet police station and seized arms and ammunition.

The communique claimed that heavy casualties were inflicted on the Karens at Kalku, 78 miles North of Rangoon, where fierce fighting is in progress.—Reuter.

MOMENTOUS DECISIONS ON FUTURE SHAPE OF THE COMMONWEALTH

Channel Tunnel Idea Revived

London, April 26. Members of Parliament from six countries, meeting in Paris, have decided unanimously to press Britain and France for a re-examination of the suggestion of a tunnel to connect Britain with the continent.

Mr. Michael Clark Hall, an official of the International Road Federation, who made the announcement at a news conference here on his return from Paris, added that the realization of the tunnel project is now within sight for the first time in 150 years.

CHINESE WAR DEAD RETURN

Yokohama, April 26. The remains of 11 Chinese-American veterans of World War II will go aboard the American President Liner General Gordon on Friday for return to their final resting places in still war-torn China.

Escorted by an American army officer, two enlisted men and a WAC enlisted woman, the finger-dipped caskets will be taken to next of kin in Shanghai, Hong Kong, Canton and other Chinese cities unless the tide of war bars their entry.

The bodies of these Chinese-American veterans of various World War II theatres had been temporarily collected in the United States Army cemetery at Yokohama.

The Eighth Army quarter-master section said today this will be the first mission of its kind ever carried out in the Far East Command. The trip will require 60 days.

The escort of honour includes Major George F. McGinn, Sergeant (1st Class) John L. Parker, Sergeant (1st Class) John A. Blag and WAC Private (1st Class) Everett W. Gleaves.—United Press.—United Press.

Colour Bar Issue Raised In House

London, April 26. The Prime Minister, Mr. Clement Attlee, rejected a suggestion by Mr. Emrys Hughes, Labour, in the House of Commons today that he should discuss with the Dominion Prime Ministers during their visit to London the question of discrimination against coloured peoples.

When asked if he would do this, he replied briefly: No, sir.

Mr. Hughes asked if the Prime Minister is aware that "racial discrimination has become so bad in South Africa..." Here Lord Winterton, an Opposition Conservative, intervened to say that it had been constantly laid down by

ONLY 3 MORE DAYS

Till The SPECIAL PROPHECY ADDRESS:

"The FATE OF MODERN EUROPE"

According to Bible Prophecy will it be WORLD WAR III OR WORLD PEACE?

BIBLE AUDITORIUM Chatham & Mody Rds. Kowloon.

London, April 26. Momentous decisions enabling the future Republican India to remain in the Commonwealth as an equal partner with the other members were taken by the Dominion Prime Ministers in a secret session here late tonight.

The decisions will inaugurate a new era in Commonwealth relations.

Following this morning's two-hour meeting of the leaders, quarters close to several of the Commonwealth delegations said that there was a rapid approach to an agreement on a joint declaration proclaiming a free and equal association of all the member nations, including Republican India.

The leaders tonight gave final shape to a document which is expected to solve the unique constitutional problem with which they have been grappling for five days.

The solution proposed by the leaders is described as unexpected but real. It is understood to consist of a declaration affirming the desire of all the members, including India, to continue their association in the Commonwealth.

The declaration is believed to place on record India's decision to become a sovereign, independent Republic and her desire to continue her own membership of the Commonwealth on a basis of equality. It is suggested that India, which, as a Republic, cannot accept the suzerainty of the King, will regard the King as "the symbol of free association" in the Commonwealth.

It is understood that the Commonwealth nations other than India are expected to reaffirm their allegiance to the Crown, but, at the same time, to accept India as a full and equal member of the Commonwealth.

Crown Link
The declaration, on which the statesmen have already been working almost continuously for the past two days, may be modified in detail before it obtains final acceptance.

The Dominion statesmen, in their search for a solution, have had to balance the question of any change in the basis of the Commonwealth association with the deep attachment of the older Dominions to the Crown link.

They had also to bear in mind the special significance which a solution of India's problem might have for the other new Dominions—Pakistan and Ceylon—which have yet to frame their Constitutions.

South Africa has also a special interest in the issue. The Nationalist Party, in power, thinks it consistent for a Commonwealth to contain both Republics and Kingdoms.

All Commonwealth quarters say that the talks have been conducted throughout in an atmosphere of the greatest cordiality and mutual helpfulness.

The desire of all the Dominions to bring the conference to a successful conclusion is evident.

The Prime Ministers attended two official functions in their honour before meeting tonight for what is expected to be the last phase of their secret talks.

Vital Conference
They were the guests of honour at a luncheon reception given by the Speaker of the House of Commons, Colonel Clifton Brown, at his official residence in the Palace of Westminster. The function was attended by many Members of the Government, Opposition leaders and other distinguished Parliamentary figures.

The statesmen are dining with the Prime Minister, Mr. Clement Attlee, and leading British Ministers at his official residence, No. 10, Downing Street, and are expected to move straight from the dining room to the conference table for their meeting, to start at 8.45 p.m. GMT.

The Prime Ministers have arranged to have a further meeting tomorrow morning, and it is possible that any decisions which may be taken tonight will not be known until then.—Reuter.

VOTE ON RUSSIAN WIVES

Lake Success, April 26. There were 11 abstentions when the General Assembly of the United Nations, by 30 votes to six, called upon Soviet Russia to withdraw its measures preventing Russian wives from joining their husbands abroad.

The USSR was also asked to report its action to the General Assembly by May 1. Mr. Tsurupkin, the Soviet representative, made it clear that his country could not give serious consideration to such a "judicious proposal."

Ten Asiatic countries abstained from the vote. The other country to abstain was South Africa—which, just at present, is particularly strong in defence of the principle of "internal jurisdiction."

Turkey and Ethiopia were absent.

The debate brought out that Soviet Russia is refusing exit visas to 1,000 Russian wives of United States, British, French or Canadian soldiers or representatives, and that 65 Soviet husbands and 850 Soviet wives of United States citizens are being refused exit permits.

The Soviet and Polish representatives hit back hard at the United States, Britain and Chile—sponsors of the resolution—and painted the "barbaric" conditions that exist in some of those countries so far as women are concerned.—Reuter.

Czech Consul Flees To West

Vienna, April 27. Dadrach Pokorny, First Consul of the Czechoslovakian Legation in Vienna has fled to the West with his Austrian bride of two months, official Government sources said yesterday.

The Czech Legation refused to comment on the report. Jan Jelinek, Press Attache, would say only: "I have not read the morning papers. I know nothing about it." He would not deny the report.

According to yesterday's Socialist newspaper "Arbeiter Zeitung," M. Pokorny was ordered to return to Prague about 10 days ago, but refused to go. His present whereabouts are not known.—Associated Press.

MP PROTESTS U.S. ACTION
Paris, April 26. Mr. Konrad Zilliox, Labour left wing Member of Parliament, and M. Pierre Cot, a French deputy and a former Air Minister, protested in a joint statement today against the refusal of the United States Government to grant them visas to enter the country.

They had been invited to visit the United States to accompany Mr. Henry Wallace, former Vice-President, on a Progressive Party speaking tour.—Reuter.

MP Wants Singapore In The Malaya Federation

London, April 26. Mr. Walter Fletcher, Conservative MP, today called for the inclusion of Singapore in the Malayan Federation.

In a letter in the "Times," Mr. Fletcher wrote: "It will not be long before the Chinese in Malaya, who already feel that under the Federation the scale has been tipped unfairly against them, become the senior partners."

Ten years ago, there was little racial feeling, he said, but now it runs high.

Today's delicate balance in Malaya is therefore liable to violent upsets, particularly if the Malays, fearing that their new political power is no final answer to their problems, call in the new Malay power of the Netherlands East Indies to redress the balance of the old in the Federation.

Mr. Fletcher continued: "Declaring that the economic situation is disquieting, Mr. Fletcher says: 'Singapore, the great entrepot of the Far East, is under triple attack. Continued chaos in the Netherlands East Indies means that that region may suddenly be cut off as a market, as has happened recently.'

"The Supreme Command of the Allied Force (Japan) has also shown a desire to bypass Singapore through direct arrangements with the Netherlands East Indies and other Far Eastern countries."

War Damage
"Finally, an economic treaty between the United Kingdom and Holland, acting for the Netherlands East Indies, has recently been concluded without, I believe, any consultation with the local authorities."

Mr. Fletcher also emphasised that unfair competition, mainly Dutch, which diverted gold dollars from the Empire and the financial insecurity of Malaya is due to the failure to settle war damage claims.

"Singapore's decline will be accompanied by the gradual migration to the mainland of some of its six or seven hundred thousand Chinese."

"The Federation would then have to deal with another discontented and potentially dangerous element."

Unity Needed
"To assure a truly united Malaya, including Singapore and the consequent inflow of vitally needed new capital, economic treaties and arrangements affecting the area should be preceded by proper consideration for Malayan interests, claims settled and the police reinforced."

SFORZA IN PARIS
Paris, April 26. The French Foreign Minister, M. Robert Schuman, today received Count Carlo Sforza, Italian Foreign Minister, at the French Foreign Office. Count Sforza is passing through France on his way home from signing the Atlantic Pact in Washington.

After meeting M. Schuman, Count Sforza told the press: "We had a full and friendly exchange of views on colonial problems, on the constitution of the council of Europe, which will be discussed in London by the Big Three, also on all the problems uniting us and not those which separate us—because there are none."—Reuter.

"Weaknesses" In Marshall Plan

London, April 23. Addressing the Conference of European Liberal Parties in London today, the Swedish delegate, Professor Bertil Ohlin, leader of the Folkpartiet and a Member of the Riksdag, said he sees some weaknesses in the Marshall Plan.

He said: "The Marshall Plan helped to bridge the gap in the international field, but has not provided a sufficient stimulus to increased trade inside Western Europe."

"I feel it would be wise if a greater proportion of the Marshall aid were used to provide a monetary fund of gold and dollars which could be used only for the speeding up of trade inside Europe. This fund would not be at the disposal of States to pay for goods from America."

Professor Ohlin considers it a tragedy that the possibility of an organisation that is very far from an adaptation to a peace economy, the European Coal and Steel Community, in Western Europe are too high.

MALAYA CAMPAIGN AWARDS

London, April 26. Acting Group Captain John Mortimer Warfield, Senior Staff Officer at Advanced Air Headquarters, Malaya, heads the list of awards for service with the Royal Air Force in Malaya from June 1 to November 30, 1948, approved by the King and announced today.

He has been elevated to the Commander Class of the Order of the British Empire, which he received in 1946.

Other awards are: Order of the British Empire, Officer Class: Wing Commander Henry Neil George Wheeler, DSO, DFC, Commander of the Royal Air Force Station at Kuala Lumpur; Squadron Leader Allan George Hammond, in charge of administration of the Kuala Lumpur Station.

Distinguished Flying Cross: Flying Officer Ian Maurice Pedder, who has completed some 250 hours' flying since he arrived at the Kuala Lumpur Station in July, 1948.

British Empire Medal (Military Division): Flight Sergeant Edward Clark; Flight Sergeant Stephen Charles Leppard; Flight Sergeant Raymond Frederick George Howard; Sergeant John McWaters.

A further 33 Mentions-in-Despatches are still to be published.—Reuter.

ARCHBISHOP'S DENIAL

Prague, April 26. A spokesman for Dr. Josef Beran, Archbishop of Prague, today denied a report that in a message to his flock recently the Archbishop expressed the belief that he would shortly be denounced as "an enemy of the workers."

The spokesman described the Archbishop—who is the senior Roman Catholic churchman in Czechoslovakia—as a man of working class origins who has always been known as the workers' friend. The Archbishop himself is not in Prague.—Reuter.

REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT

It has taken a very long time for the Unofficial members of the Hong Kong Government to make any material proposals regarding the colony's hopes for democratic reorganisation of the ruling body. Sir Mark Young's scheme for a municipal council was sent to London two and a half years ago, and it has still not been possible to have a full dress debate here on Whitehall's reactions.

In anticipation of this, the senior Unofficial member, Mr. D. F. Landale, in Legislative Council yesterday gave notice of a basically different alternative motion: scrapping the Young proposals, and instead modifying the Legislative Council to have an Official membership of nine, including the Governor, and 11 Unofficial members "consisting partly of members elected by qualified residents of British nationality and partly of members nominated by the Governor. The Governor to have an original and casting vote and the usual reserve power."

This new plan, which has the support of all the Unofficials, will not be brought forward for six weeks, in order to give the public an opportunity of stating their views, these to be presented to Whitehall as soon as possible.

Mr. Landale was right when he stated that it has become increasingly evident that the citizens of Hong Kong do not consider the Young proposals the best means of giving them a fuller and more responsible share in the management of their own affairs, and that a much more effective means of achieving this object is fundamental modification of the constitution of the Legislative Council.

It is most probable that vocal groups such as the two Reform Clubs will agree with the principle of Mr. Landale's plan, but whether they will accept as ideal the skeleton details he supplies is quite another matter. If we read him correctly, when the Governor's casting vote is considered, the Unofficials would be in a majority of one, provided they were all able to attend meetings. It would only require one to be absent for at least a theoretical stalemate in voting to occur—assuming that the unnamed number of nominated members dared to go against authority. If it is intended to have a majority of Unofficials, why leave them such a small margin? To make the thing at all workable on those lines, they should outnumber the Officials by about 50 per cent.

Also, as we have implied, nominated members should be sufficiently few to avoid swamping elected representatives of the people, otherwise the whole thing becomes a farce, and even a token degree of self-government will again be denied the people who have waited for it for so long.

If anyone thinks this is going too far along the utopian road of freedom, it is pointed out that Mr. Landale suggests the Governor retains "the usual reserve power." This of course means that if elected members tried, by virtue of their majority, to impose on the colony something, shall we say, basically anti-British, the Governor may, on his own authority reject the entire scheme and refuse to let it be tabled.

Rescuing Italy's Problem Children

By ROBERT SHEARER

Railway stations, shopping centres and hotels in all big Italian cities are still today—four years after the end of World War II—infested with youths snatching a living as best they can from the unsuspecting tourist.

"Shoeshiners" they used to be called by soldiers of the Allied armies as they crunched their way Northward through the peninsula. Today the name has gone, but the problem remains. No official Government source in Rome will put a figure on the number of boys who are living, one might say, beyond Society, but that there are many is a matter of experience to people who know such cities as Milan, Naples, Turin and Genoa.

Apart from this mysterious marginal fringe which probably runs into many thousands, both police and welfare authorities are strained to the limit to deal with the waifs, strays and delinquents who do come within their jurisdiction.

The most recent police raids, for example, carried out on the streets of Rome drew in 6,000 children who had been abandoned by their parents or had left home of their own accord to see what the lights of the big city have to offer.

Police authorities could offer no comparable figure for other major cities but admitted the total must be in the thousands. A fair percentage of these boys are taken home immediately by their parents as soon as it is learned they have been picked up by the police.

The rest of them are sent to institutions run under the supervision of the Ministry of the Interior, or are farmed out to private charitable organisations supported by funds from Switzerland, Sweden and the United States.

Boys' Villages
These foreign societies are already running eight boys' villages in various parts of Italy, the best known of which is some 60 miles North of Rome near Civitavecchia.

They are doing an immense amount of good work embracing in all several thousands homeless boys who are being taught a trade in pottery, making, carpentry, mechanics or shoe-making under the guidance of competent masters. For this group there is at least hope of a worthwhile future.

They are taught the lessons of self-government, they are taught that loyalty is better than guile, honesty than theft, work than idleness, tolerance than violence, liberty than licence, no mean achievement with boys who have known little but the atmosphere of the war years, when poverty and misery were aggravated by crisis and the roar of the guns.

The Ministry of the Interior cares for another 10,000 to 12,000. In any day of the year there are always a number of homeless boys and girls who are living under the supervision of the Government in private institutions.

Allowing for departures during the year, for those who return home or find a job, the Ministry looks after 15,000 to 18,000 children every year.

The Government provides funds for this work as do many private societies. The whole structure is well-meaning but lacks organisation. The problem of the moment is one of feeding and clothing the child rather than studying his educational requirements, which in any case will never be dealt with in anything but piecemeal fashion as long as one central Government control is lacking to co-ordinate the policy of villages, institutions and private agencies.

A Long Road
Italian welfare is at the beginning of a very long road. The food in the Government homes is not bad and at least a couple of place said, "Qui si mangia meglio che fuori," meaning "You eat here better than you do outside," which in some cases is, probably true.

The inmates have a couple of solid meals a day, which is more than can be said for every adult under the Italian Republic.

The wayward and socially dangerous boys are a class entirely apart from those that have been mentioned previously. They are the special preserve of the Ministry of Justice. The number for all Italy now being held in houses cratic. It isn't, but even the most eager must remember that this is a colony, in difficult times, and that even a step forward towards self-government is much to be desired. The Landale proposals, if adopted wholly or partly, will mean another long wait while brains in the Colonial Office ponder the matter anew. Nevertheless, this is the best plan yet put forward by responsible sources, and provided certain modifications are made in it, there is no reason why the public should not support it.

The cold war develops—and this time on Western initiative, one of significance, although differing in kind, were the signing of the Atlantic Pact early this month, and the diplomatic protest by the Governments of Britain, the United States and the Dominions against the violation by the Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe of the human rights clauses in the peace treaties.

What connection, if any, is there between these two aspects of the cold war? We are building barriers against the further spread of Communism. Are we to crouch behind them and disown all responsibility for what happens to the unfortunate left on the wrong side?

Obviously not. If that had been our policy, we would not now be formally censuring Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania for their secret police, persecution of the Church, gagging of the Press, murder of political opponents, and other totalitarian abominations.

Retaliate
But we must face the fact that such protests, alone, are unlikely to abate by one turn of the screw the pressure that the Communists are now putting on the satellite peoples.

The ordinary rules of international conduct no longer apply. There is little realism in exchanging diplomatic notes and arguments at the back of the stage, while the Berlin blockade and guerrilla war in Greece are in the full glare of the footlights.

We are handicapping ourselves by trying to use Quakerism rules against an all-in wrestler. What more, then, can we do? It has been stressed repeatedly that the Atlantic Pact and Western Union are not instruments of aggression. On the contrary, they are aimed at keeping the peace.

But that does not mean we need remain torpidly on the defensive in the cold war. Retaliation is not aggression. The Communists are doing everything in their power to undermine Western democracy; anything we can do to weaken the Communist grip on the satellite countries will, in the long run, be a safeguard, not a danger.

What nonsense it is, for example, for Mr. Harold Wilson to proclaim in the House of Commons that our trade relations with the Communist area must be guided by economic considerations alone, presumably leaving the cold war out of account.

Surely the first question to be asked in considering any commercial deal with the satellites is whether or not directly or indirectly, the deal would aid Communist plans for the economic development of the country concerned. Almost invariably, it would; otherwise they would not be negotiating with us.

In such circumstances, we should refuse to trade.

Hamper Them
We might go further. Rather than assist the industrial development of the satellite powers, should we not hamper it—at any rate until they mend their ways about the non-observance of the Peace Treaties?

We could stop sending capital equipment to Eastern Europe. We could refuse to ease their financial troubles as we do at present by buying supplies which they are desperately anxious to sell.

We could seek by commercial means to deny them access to vital materials they need to import. The records of the Ministry of Economic Warfare are rich in examples of techniques which might be used.

No great risk would be involved. Even a blockade is not today counted as an act of war; we have learned that in Berlin. Such measures would be no more aggressive than the Communist-inspired strikes against the Marshall Plan in France and Italy; but they might well be more effective.

In spite of all their threatening words and ruthless deeds, the men in the Kremlin are not having it all their own way, even behind the Iron Curtain.

Communism is striking at the three things the peasants of Eastern Europe hold most dear: their religion, their country, and their land. It is on these three loyalties, rather than on any accorded to civilians in general as is recognised to be right of combatants who are wounded or captured. Taking of hostages, torture, deportation and punishment without proper trial will be outlawed when this new convention is ratified.

The Governments which become signatories will be expected to introduce a special legislation to make it effective. This would mean that those who break its provisions could be apprehended, brought to trial and punished.

The general aim of the Red Cross is to alleviate cruelties of war. During its 85 years of work Britain has always taken a leading part in promoting wherever possible this beneficent humanitarian aim.

For a purely imaginary line the Equator serves a number of practical purposes. It marks the thickest part of the earth; where Father Neptune boards ships; and approximately the regions of maximum thirst.

There in the hands of those who really know the treatment, you find the long glasses of Rose's Lime Juice—pure juice of Nature's most thirst-quenching fruit, pure cane sugar; accompanied by a cool gleam, a clink of ice, and sighs of satisfaction.

Two or three of these and the most dehydrated man feels human once again, ready for shorter drinks—and naturally Gin and Rose's.

Vampire Jets In The Making

Production of the first de Havilland Vampire jet fighter, standard fighter aircraft of the Royal Australian Air Force, is well advanced at the Bankstown (New South Wales) plant of the de Havilland Aircraft Company Proprietary Limited. Picture shows work proceeding on the pilot's cockpit and front part of the Vampire. This section is made of laminated wood, glued together under high pressure. The front wheel of the tricycle-type landing gear is in place, and the workman in the cockpit (with head showing) is installing instruments.

TRINIDAD BAUXITE STATION

Carenage, a tiny fishing village West of Port of Spain, Trinidad, will have the largest bauxite transfer point in the world when the American Alcoa Steamship Company U.S. $6,000,000 project is complete there this year.

The selection of Trinidad for the establishment of the transfer station was made after many sites had been considered in the Caribbean area but Carenage provided a convenient situation near the bauxite mines in Dutch Guiana.

An official of the company said: "I must point out the deep water facilities here and I cannot emphasise too strongly the co-operation rendered by the Trinidad Government. There must be a transfer station because the mines are up shallow rivers and boats cannot get full loads. We must bring the bauxite out to some point and transfer it to the ships. We have found Trinidad the best place."

The company is expected to spend US$800,000 on labour and equipment and the revenue to Trinidad from customs duty will be US$150,000.

Preliminary survey for the project was begun in January, 1948 and dredging began a fortnight later. The dredging work, which has cost US$150,000, is now almost completed.

When completed, the new station will be equipped to unload bauxite ore up to 1,200 tons an hour and load up to 2,000 tons an hour.

Scientific Instruments To Take Spotlight At Next Month's Fair

The visitor to the 1949 British Industries Fair will, immediately on passing through the main entrance to the Fair, be confronted, as in 1948 and 1947, with the exhibit of British scientific instruments.

This fact is symbolic of the place which scientific instruments occupy in modern life, and particularly in modern industrial life.

The scientific instrument is the key tool of industry and one can assess the stature of the industry of any country by the degree to which its scientific instrument industry has been able to design and develop every type of scientific instrument required for all the varied and control which are the life processes of measurement and modern industrial methods.

It will be found that in the relatively short space of three post-war years scientific instrument manufacture in Great Britain has not only recovered from a long period of complete pre-occupation with the production of military instruments, but is now producing not only a greater range of instruments than ever before in its history, but has met all demands for robustness, utility, and precision in a most abundant manner.

The exhibition of scientific instruments, in which the Scientific Instrument Manufacturers' Association of Great Britain, Limited, is again co-operating, has in previous years been built around a central exhibit designed to illustrate some particular application of the use of scientific instruments. In 1948, television was the theme of this application, and while this attracted very considerable attention, the central exhibit to be included in the 1949 Fair cannot but arouse the intense interest of every visitor.

Exhibition

By arrangement with the Ministry of Supply an exhibition is being staged which will illustrate the part played by instrumentation in the exploitation of atomic energy. The demonstration is being arranged by the Atomic Energy Station at Harwell, and in consequence will be of an authoritative and factual nature in which interest and information will be combined.

In one sense an exhibition of scientific instruments provides a panorama of current scientific knowledge. The detailed and abstract investigations into the reflection of wireless waves by conducting layers in the upper atmosphere, which received their first major application in the use of radar during the war, are condensed and epitomised in the radar equipment which allows the contours of port installations and the coast surrounding them to be displayed on a cathode-ray tube on the bridge of a ship seeking to enter the port. A study of the phase changes which occur when light is reflected by or transmitted through some medium might not appear to be a very practical or profitable one. The phase-contrast microscope, however, which incorporates principles which have been elucidated as a result of such study, has given the microscopist fresh fields to conquer and has put into the hands of medical research a tool which enables them to obtain knowledge of micro-organisms which will profoundly affect the health and well-being of the community.

The principles of electro-chemistry may seem to be remote from ordinary life, but the pH meter, which is the concrete embodiment of those principles, has, by its use, a most potent influence upon the purity of our food and on the quality and durability of innumerable articles used in every-day life.

Shortages Hamper Building

Although there has been some improvement in the supply of building materials, the development of building technique has once more been governed by shortages.

The past year has seen the end of the temporary housing programme. This programme has been much criticised, not only because of its high cost but also because few people believe that the country-wide rash of "prefabs" will really be cleared away at the end of its allotted span of 10 years. Among other critics are the dwellers in new permanent houses, who remark on the superior quality of the mechanical equipment in the temporary ones. Of the permanent prefabricated types, at least one has had to be discontinued because of the shortage of steel.

In the materials industry there has been some unhappiness in the brickfields, particularly among the smaller firms. Immediately after the war the Government urged all brick-makers to increase production. They did so, and the works were only just beginning to produce to capacity when the Government brought in its programme of capital cuts, and the smaller firms, who produce most of the more expensive types of brick, found themselves in many cases with huge stocks on their hands.

Shortage of steel has again helped the development of light alloys for structural work. The London County Council, which controls all building in the metropolis, has given "conditional" permission for the construction of a building with an aluminium frame. The condition is that the owner shall pull it down if the London County Council should no longer require within a specified time.

Main Difficulty

The main difficulty facing the authorities, who are responsible for laying down permissible working stresses, is that there are so many aluminium alloys, each with widely differing properties. Prefabricated aluminium roof trusses have been on the market for some time, and examples of them will be seen at the British Industries Fair.

Pre-stressed reinforced concrete is another building development which has recently received some publicity and which is likely to influence building in the future. This technique, which is already well known in Europe, is being developed by the Ministry of Works, to whom it appeals particularly as a saver of wood and steel. Savings of up to 80 per cent. in reinforcing steel can be made as compared with traditional reinforced concrete, but the steel must be of high tensile quality. Although the actual use of this process has so far been confined in Britain to railway sleepers and a bridge at Wigton, several buildings incorporating pre-stressed reinforced concrete are projected. The Ministry of Works has been experimenting for some time with pre-stressed flooring units for housing and pylons for overhead power lines.

In an effort to reduce building costs the Ministry has also sponsored a number of demonstrations of "mechanical building" plant. These demonstrations have attracted much interest, particularly among the smaller firms, who have in the past been slow to take up modern methods.

In general, building developments in Britain during 1948 have been confined to making do with available materials and manpower and experimenting with new materials and techniques.

COMMUNIST ADVANCE BRINGS NEW CRISIS

NEW RESEARCH LABORATORY IN PANAMA

Hong Kong's amateur and professional photographers will benefit shortly from results of experiments being carried out at Panama City, it was learned here yesterday.

The Eastman Kodak Company has opened a new research laboratory in Panama City to study photographic materials under tropical conditions. Dr. Walter Clark is in charge of the research programme there.

The experiments at Panama City fall into two general categories. One is confined to the study of the effect of the tropics on films, plates, papers, cameras, lenses and other photographic equipment.

The second category concerns research on all aspects of photographic practice and the many problems that face photographers in the tropics.

The results of the research will be made available to all photographers who encounter tropical problems.

Far East Defence Measures

New York, April 26. A "Times" editorial today urged the Western powers to take the lead in defence measures in the Far East as they are already doing in Europe.

"What holds good for Western Europe and Germany is also relevant to the free nations of the Pacific and Japan," it said.

"For the Communist advance in China has an even more ominous meaning for these areas than the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia had for Western Europe."

The "Times" said that what has been done in Europe thus far can only be the first steps toward a more comprehensive solution.

"These steps must still be matched with even the beginnings of similar measures in the Pacific area," — United Press.

New York, April 26. The steamroller offensive of the powerful Red armies in China has created a fresh major crisis in the now not so cold war of political ideologies.

The Western Powers had scarcely finished signing the Atlantic pact, to halt the Communist drive across Europe, when the Chinese chieftain, Mao Tse-tung, forced the line of the Yangtse. Thus almost overnight the West was confronted with another threat.

The weight of the attack had been shifted from the front defenses to those in the rear. True, the new target in the Orient is much further away than was the drive across Europe. The present danger is less imminent, and in that sense the situation is perhaps not so critical. Time now is with the West, just as it suddenly turned against the Nationalist forces of China.

It is idle to speculate on how much time may be involved in the Chinese conflict. We know that the Communist resources, both military and economic, are great, while the Nationalist Government's resources are terribly weak.

The Nationalists' most powerful defence against the Red forces from the North the Yangtse has been smashed. Their capital of Nanking has been occupied by the enemy, a shocking blow to the morale of the nation.

Zonal Defence

A million and a half Red troops are ready for the drive Southward through China. What other estimate can be made than that the Nationalist situation is desperate? However, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is said to have planned a defence by zones as the Reds advance.

Many of these zones with their troops are in the hands of warlords and, if they remain loyal to Chiang, the Nationalist defence might give the Communists a surprise.

Speculation at this time is idle. We shall have to await developments. What we can see clearly enough is that a Southward drive of the world's most populous nation would give Communism a powerful base from which to work in all Asia. Neighbouring India would be the next great nation to come under pressure, and it might be that she would provide a barrier which Communism could not surmount. The Hindus and Moslems of the Indian peninsula are intensely religious, and Communism and religion cannot be mixed.

In any event, should Communism have a sweeping success in the Orient, the Western nations would be in a Red vice.

British Position

Britain finds herself in an uncomfortable position as the result of the Communist drive.

She has many interests in China, including her big Crown colony of Hong Kong on the South coast. Already a British cruiser, a destroyer and two sloops have been pounded by Communist shore guns with considerable loss of life.

The Admiralty is sending a cruiser to join the Far Eastern Fleet. At present there are two cruisers, eight destroyers and four sloops based at Hong Kong, but they have no air cover. This is a normal strengthening of forces under the circumstances and it is safe to take it for granted that Britain has every intention of keeping out of trouble if she can.—Associated Press.

DE LA RAMA'S NEW VESSELS

New York, April 27.

The De La Rama Line has placed orders for three Pacific passenger cargo vessels with the Mitsubishi yards at Nagasaki, Japan.

The liners will each gross 10,000 tons, will be 456 feet long, 65½ feet wide, 41 feet deep and have twin screws, powered by 10,500 horsepower diesel engines.

They are among a group of nine which the American Bureau of Shipping added this month to Japan's shipbuilding schedule, and bring the total under schedule to 15.—United Press.

Top Priority For Europe Arms Aid

Washington, April 26.

The United States will give top priority in arms shipments to her Atlantic Pact Allies to weapons needed to neutralise any Soviet blitz of Western Europe.

United States Government officials, drafting legislation for $1,130 million in arms shipments for Western Europe, say the weapons most urgently needed are American armour and anti-tank weapons.

Lending American military strategists believe that with United States help, Western Europe can withstand any invasion by Russia. The plan now is to make the existing European land, sea and air forces more effective rather than to build up new units.

The needs of the 11 Pact Allies of the United States are listed in this order: (1) American arms, (2) Spare parts for existing transport, communications and other military equipment. (3) Raw materials to stimulate domestic production.

An unspecified number of Army, Navy and Air Force technicians will be sent overseas to supervise the use of American equipment and to help standardise training and administration.

The goal of the Atlantic Pact powers abroad is described as the creation of a "community army" patterned on the Swiss armed forces.

Mr. James Reston, diplomatic correspondent of the "New York Times," said the first objective is to deter the Russians from making war.

The second is to hold a second front open somewhere on the Continent so that, in the event of an armed attack, the power of the West can immediately be brought to the Continent.

And, third, which will take years, is to make Western Europe and North America strong enough to repel an armed attack before Russia overruns Western Europe.—Reuter.

Regiments of tanks and armour are often called "cavalry." Milledard, Captain Victor Shancy would say. Commanding the 776th Horse Troop, United States Army, at Schweinfurt, Germany, he's a diehard supporter of the indispensability of the horse in a modern army. Here men of the second and third platoons of the 776th Horse Troop sit their mounts prior to duty drill. This last horse troop in the U. S. cavalry uses a former Luftwaffe airfield as a practice ground. AP Photo.

Royal Couple Moving Into A "Dream House"

London, April 26.

Princess Elizabeth, the Duke of Edinburgh and their baby son, Prince Charles, will move into their new London home, Clarence House, at the end of May after months of delay and disappointment, it was officially announced today.

Their home was to be ready by January, but building material shortages delayed the work. They will have a London home of their own for the first time after 18 months of married life.

Their move from Buckingham Palace is to take place after their return from a visit to North Ireland, planned for May 25 and 26. Their household secretaries and about 20 servants will take up quarters here this week while the Princess and the Duke are touring North Wales.

When the Royal couple moves it will revive the traditions that passed from the beautifully-appointed mansion in 1942 when its owner, the Duke of Connaught, died and all its contents were sold.

A Government grant of £50,000 has been spent on modernising the four-storied house, which was badly damaged during the war. Work has been going on for more than a year.

The house was built in 1825 for the Duke of Clarence, afterwards King William IV, and was occupied later by Queen Victoria's mother, the Duchess of Kent. It became the bridal home of the Duke of Edinburgh, Queen Victoria's sailor son, in 1794, when he brought to London his Russian wife, Marie, the only daughter of Czar Alexander II. Then it was for 61 years the London home of the Duke of Connaught. Later the Red Cross and St. John Organisation directed its overseas war work from the mansion.

All Modern

Clarence House is now a "dream" home. The interior decoration and furniture is a combination of old and new. Most of the furniture is antique. Many of the pieces the Royal couple received as wedding presents. The soft furnishings are all modern. The couple has turned some of the best rooms on the ground

Should Be Rammed Down Their Throats

Washington, April 26.

Senator Tom Connally, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters today that a State Department protest should be rammed down the throats of the Chinese Communists who invaded the American Embassy at Nanking.

(A State Department statement yesterday said that 12 Chinese Communist soldiers violated the Embassy and entered the Ambassador's bedroom during the night).

Senator Connally added: "It's a serious affront. They have got to learn to respect United States' rights and property. We have got to take a firm stand in this matter." —Reuter.

American Communists On China

New York, April 26.

The flag of China flew next to the American flag outside United States Communist Party headquarters today while Communist Party leaders hailed the "liberation of Nanking."

William Z. Foster, Chairman of the National Committee of the United States Communist Party, and Eugene Dennis, General Secretary of the Party, said the capture of the Chinese capital is "a milestone in the liberation of the Far East from its foreign and native oppressors."

"The Imperialists' dream of dominating China and converting it into a huge war base, from which to attack the Soviet Union and to throttle the national freedom movements of all Asia, has been blasted," they declared.—Reuter.

ENDLESS V-BELTS CAN BE Replaced with only 4 sizes of Veelink

As many as 316 sizes of industrial and fractional drive V-belts can be replaced with only four reels of Veelink, the link V-belt. From these handy reels required belt lengths are quickly uncoupled, made endless and installed. Belt replacement for any type drive are always on hand. Rapid turnover of Veelink on reels eliminates spare belt deterioration. Complex costly belt inventories are ended. Stock records are simplified. Standard reels hold 100 feet, save storage space.

Veelink goes on quickly and easily...lowers machine downtime. On drives with outboard bearings, it is installed without moving the motor or dismantling the machine. Savings on drives of this type have been estimated to run as high as 5/10 the cost of installing any other V-belt.

Veelink—known throughout the United States—has proven itself in service on thousands upon thousands of drives. Wherever it is used, higher levels of power transmission efficiency are attained.

Syria Closes The Border

Damascus, April 26.
Colonel Huseini El Zaim, Syrian Prime Minister, today closed the Syrian border with the Jordanian Transjordan area described as aggressive measures.
The Colonel ordered the recruiting of troops to "face every menace."
The Colonel intends to make the Syrian Army the second greatest force in the Middle East after Turkey.
Syria is apparently ready to oppose by all means formation of any "Greater Syria" or "Fertile Crescent" schemes, including Iraq, Transjordan and Syria.—

RULE BY ITALY PRAISED

Lake Success, April 26.
Signor Alberto Turchiani, Italian Ambassador to the United States, spoke today in the United Nations Political Committee on the future of Italy's former African colonies.

Praising Italy's efforts for the native populations of these areas, he declared that in Libya, Italy had been responsible for an industrial and economic revolution of great importance to the local population.

Under Italian administration Libya's population had reached living standards never previously attained. Hospital, dispensaries and medical services had been provided free and educational facilities extended greatly.
In Eritrea the native population had increased from 200,000 to 1,600,000 under Italian administration.

Signor Turchiani said that even the Fascist regime, despite its many grave errors, had not been so black as it had been painted.
It had abolished wide measures of self-government introduced by democratic Italy; regimes 30 years ago but it had retained many others. Local chiefs, advised by native councils, had wide powers.

He went on to say that Italy had elaborate plans to further the progress of territories which might be entrusted to her. Italy was ready to carry on in Africa her work of stabilisation and progress in the spirit of the trusteeship system and in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations.—Reuter.

Washington, April 27.
The United States cut off the flow of American aid cotton to Shanghai yesterday in expectation that China's great port city will be taken over by Communist armies at will.

Seventeen cotton-laden ships bound for Shanghai were ordered diverted to Japan.
Shipments of U. S. rice which for months have helped feed Shanghai's teeming millions are continuing, but it is uncertain for how long.

Economic Co-operation Administration officials said deliveries of food and other supplies to Shanghai will cease automatically when the Communists take over.

Congress ordered that the remaining US$4,000,000 of China aid funds should be used only in non-Communist areas.
The diverted cotton cargoes were originally destined for textile mills in cities near Shanghai which now have fallen to the advancing Communists.

ECA officials said mills inside Shanghai itself continue operation for some time with stocks of raw cotton on hand. They are hopeful that suspension of further shipments will not arouse Chinese resentment which might increase the uncertainties of Americans remaining in the city.

Orders Suspended
Only a few hours before the ECA announcement, the North China Communist raid demanded that the U. S. and other foreign powers withdraw all their armed forces from China.

American Naval force at Tsing-tao in North China have been ready to leave on a few hours notice for weeks. They were there at the invitation of the to-ttering Nationalist Government, largely for training purposes.
U. S. Naval vessels at Shanghai have already been moved out of the Whangpoo River beyond the range of any shore-based artillery.

SLAV MISSION ACCUSED

Berlin, April 26.
The Political Bureau of the Communist-led Socialist Unity Party in Berlin today officially accused the Yugoslav Military Mission here of being "an agent of American imperialism and spreading Trotskyist propaganda."
The charges were made in an announcement that two Berlin members of the Party have been expelled for "Trotskyist activity."
The announcement said one of the expelled members, Herr Wolfgang Leonard, had distributed Trotskyist propaganda for the Yugoslav Mission in Berlin, and had been paid with Yugoslav cigarettes and food.

"Thus it is proved that the Yugoslav Mission in Berlin is developing Trotskyist activity in the Soviet Zone and thus disturbing democratic reconstruction," the Political Bureau stated.

"The Mission has sunk to the level of an agent of American imperialism."—Reuter.

SHANGHAI HAS NO NEWS OF THE WAR

Shanghai, April 27.
News about China's civil war is conspicuously lacking from this morning's Shanghai newspapers.
The English-language "China Daily Tribune" and "China Press" each carried one small story which was carefully attributed to the semi-official Central News Agency.

The "China Press" gave it a war banner and about one third column type. The "Tribune" boxed a shorter story and buried it at the bottom of the first page.
The British-owned "North China Daily News" did not even publish. The paper was suspended for three days for printing "untrue" stories about the war in the April 25 edition.
As a result of the untrue stories two foreign correspondents and a couple of editors were called before garrison officials. The correspondents were Reuters' Granham Jenkins and International News George Vine. Vine is also assistant editor of the "North China Daily News."
Vines and Jenkins were held overnight and released shortly after 11 a.m. yesterday.
Soon after the pair were picked up, the garrison headquarters issued an order that only war news released by the Garrison through Central News can be published.

Death Penalty
The papers are heaving to the line and so far the majority of correspondents. They do not want to be found guilty of "rumour-mongering" which under the provisions of the martial law now in force, is punishable by a firing squad.

Two Chinese "rumour-mongers" —not newspapermen—were shot two days ago for spreading false information.
Another thing which is limiting activities of newspapermen in Shanghai is the 10 p.m. curfew which was effective on the night of April 25, when the curfew was declared. Curfew passes which most newsmen held were declared invalid.
Now it is almost impossible to get copy to cable offices after 10 p.m. And staffs of local morning papers must get their papers made up early so they can get home before the curfew.—Associated Press.

secrets of ancient London.

They are appealing for £50,000 to finance a rush job on 2,000 years of history uncovered by German bombs. They must do it before a new London rises on the ruins.

The Luftwaffe blasted to bits the modern buildings that stood over 50 acres of what formerly was the old 350-acre walled city. Before the new steel and concrete giants go up—and their massive foundations drive deep into the precious, rock-filled soil—archaeologists must dig feverishly.

The rebuilding starts, they say, London's buried treasure will be lost.

Steel grabs will smash delicate medieval pottery. Workers' picks will destroy crumbling traces of the Roman Wall that shielded the legions of Emperor Claudius from barbarous Britons. What survives of Roman Londinium, now is buried 12 to 19 feet below the surface.

The history-seekers are racing against time. Reconstruction cannot be delayed. London's future depends upon it.

For the search organization, the Roman and Medieval Excavation Council, help is short as well as money. The archaeologists want to increase their paid digging staff from 10 to 50. They want scores more volunteer student workers, British or foreign. Several groups of American and Dutch students have helped since the war.

The £50,000 the Council seeks is in addition to £3,000 already given by the Government and £2,500 from private donors. The Council hopes American dollars will swell the fund.

Boss of the excavators is keen-eyed Mr. William F. Grimes, Director of London Museum.

"In the last two years," he says proudly, "We've made more discoveries than in the previous 50. Walls, pottery, bones, coins, implements of all kinds. The bonbonners gave us the opportunity. We must not waste it."

The city in the world ever had a better chance to trace its history. Our aim is to cross-trench every blitz-site."

Main search is in the area East of St. Paul's Cathedral where acres were flattened by blast and fire. This region was the centre of Roman London.

In spite of 19 centuries of recorded existence, the capital's history is still a large extent unwritten. Mr. Grimes says lots of questions need answers.

Was London's story continuous? What was life like in the prosperous Roman days around A.D. 122 when it had a forum, basilica, statues, shops and markets? What happened after the Legionnaires left? What of the Dark Ages and Saxon days? What traces remain of London's two great calamities—the plague in 1665 and the fire the following year?

Many clues lie in the chalk, gravel and sticky clay on which London is built. A fascinating serial is there, layer upon layer. Excavators at Cripplegate are digging carefully into the old city ditch—built in about 1640—which ran outside the massive wall. It was a wet and stinking moat into which citizens tossed everything they didn't want.

The old-time rubbish is priceless now.

Pottery and bone implements abound. The Saxon strain gave up a valuable bronze pendant. Medieval pottery found included a whistle in the shape of a jester's head. Filled with water and blown, it warbles like a bird.

In one place, diggers found the ashes of a house burned down in the great fire of 1666. Ten feet above, on the surface, were the ashes of another fire—the raging flames of Hitler's 1941 blitz.

Some of the 16th and 17th century pottery discovered was imported from Germany. There was Hessian table ware of 1620

The necessity of developing Taiwan as a military base in the "world's Democratic camp" because of its importance in any over-all anti-Communist plan was stressed by an authoritative source here in an interview with Reuter.

Saying that Taiwan would be a real asset to the Democratic group of world nations, the source recalled that the Japanese had made it one of their main military bases during World War II.

This was so because Taiwan possessed good airfields and good harbours and, for propaganda purposes, there were powerful radio broadcasting stations. Taiwan still has all these things.

The source said that while Communists are active in most South East Asian countries, Taiwan is as yet untouched by Communism. In view of all these favourable conditions, it added, it is puzzling that Taiwan is not being considered in terms of an Asian anti-Communist bastion in South East Asia.

The island could today be better developed than the South Sea Islands because, unlike these islands, she is not being harassed by Communist activity. One result of this freedom from Communist influence, the source said, is that Taiwan was, for instance, producing very much more sugar than the South Sea Islands.

Taiwan also has a considerable rice acreage and with two harvests a year it is able to earmark a large part of it for export without harming home consumption. Furthermore, Taiwan has coal, timber and camphur resources which are not being allowed to lie dormant, while the fishing industry could be a potent factor in the country's economy if it were possible to develop it properly.

1951 And All This

By JOHN HALL

Look forward to a Britain that wears a smile—a London that has gone Continental with floodlighting, fountains, open-air cafes and music, provincial cities gay, with new paint, towns ablaze with bunting, revels on the village greens.

This will be the great Festival of Britain, which will run from May 1 to September 30, will be a 30-acre site in the heart of London on the South Bank of the Thames between Waterloo and Westminster bridges.

Bulldozers, cranes, and shovels are working there now, clearing a jungle of waterfront warehouses and rows of mean streets. Pile-drivers are laying the foundations of a new embankment that will step over and hide the tidal mudflats, replace the gaunt rubbish chutes with symmetrical stonework.

Before the war 1,500 Londoners lived in the sooty squalor of the South Bank site, with pub, factories, and workshops for neighbours. They are being rehoused.

and a 1550 Siegburg drinking mug from the Rhineland. Early Londoners paid for the imports with wool.

Plates and a delicate porcelain bone bottle were taken from an old cess pit.

Boar bones and the jaw of a monster pike came from the deeply-buried remains of a 10th-century hut. The hut was on the exposed edge of the city ditch, the poor wretch who lived there probably was an outcast, maybe a leper.

Modern Londoners are flocking to the excavations, enchanted by the ancestral story unfolding at their feet. Noon-time crowds gaze open-mouthed as bearded professors tenderly scrape their grimy finds. A blackened walnut or centuries-old dog's skull is enough to raise a cheer.

London's kids have fun, too. One archaeologist arrived for work to find a pile of freshly-turned earth in his trench. Underneath was an old shoe.

Just so he'd know, it was a genuine relic, tied to it was a label bearing the owner's name: Julius Seaser (Cuester).

Enemy bombs began the demolition and the London County Council is finishing the job quickly to prepare for the Festival.

Later on, after the Festival, there will be a new National Theatre. By 1951 there will be a permanent Concert Hall and smart new temporary buildings showing home and overseas visitors Britain's latest and best in furniture, colour schemes lighting.

New designs in pottery, textiles, engineering, Medical and scientific advances; Progress towards better health and better living.

There are to be displays of art and special presentations of drama, ballet, and films.

Everyone In

While all this will be concentrated on the Thames-side site, the activities will spread across Britain. Every community has been asked to arrange special events to mark the festival and to incorporate and amplify for that year events such as the Edinburgh Festival, the Welsh National Eisteddfod, and the British Industries Fair.

Travelling exhibitions will carry a breath of the London show round the country for stay-at-homes to see, and for overseas visitors there are to be round-Britain tours so that they can take in all phases of the festival and see how we live and how we rejoice.

Centenary Year

Why shall we be rejoicing in 1951? Primarily it is the centenary year of the great 1851 Exhibition, which was an outstanding success, gave the nation the Crystal Palace among other things, and made a packet of money.

Coupled with the centenary it was felt that most people will be in need of a little self-boost by all-40 go gay. Since much of the work beside the Thames in part of an LCC improvement schemes the coast will be small and the plans are convinced that the Festival will pay for itself in tourist traffic alone.

It will not be anything like the 1924 Wembley Exhibition—which was a great success, but lost more than £1,500,000—but there will be an amusement park and all the fun of the fair somewhere close to the central site.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Struggle To Control Far Eastern Unions

Washington, April 26. Although the Chinese civil war now overshadows other events in Asia, there is another struggle there which will play an increasingly important part in the Far East—in labour unions. Communists and anti-Communists are in a contest to help organise and direct Asia's comparatively young labour movement.

These efforts are underlined by the two international meetings. The Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions has announced plans for an Asian regional meeting; the date, however, has not been announced.

Non-Communist labour representatives are to gather in India on May 6 to discuss formation of a Federation of Labour. Delegates will gather from India, Pakistan, the Philippines, Burma, Indonesia, Iran and China. At least one observer, and possibly two, will be on hand from the United States.

The most unionised country in the Far East is Japan. It is not known whether Japanese trade unionists will be represented at the Indian (Indian) meeting.

Last month Japan's "Labour Liaison Council" was informed that it had been accepted as a WFTU member and was invited to attend the world conference in Manila on June 29.

On the basis of information available here, there is a labour union movement of some kind in most Far Eastern countries, usually divided ideologically into Communist and non-Communist.

India has three major organisations. The Congress Party, which claims over a 1,000,000 members and is anti-Communist, the Communist-dominated India Trade Union Congress and the Socialist-dominated Hind Mazdoor Sabha. The last claims a membership of 300,000.—United Press.

Gold Yuan disappeared from the quotation lists of the money market yesterday.

Drop in the demand for US dollars has caused a further price recession. The closing rate yesterday was HK$5.05, as against $1.10 in the morning.

Plastics were also easier, closing at HK$10.05 a 100 after opening at $11.10.

Ticals were unchanged at HK$23.20 a 100.

NEI Guilders were easier at HK$32.50 a 100.

Sterling was unchanged at HK$1.05, as Australian pounds were easier at HK$13.17.

SHIPBUILDING IN JAPAN

London, April 27. Seventy ships totalling 144,100 tons are under construction in Japan, Lloyd's Register of Shipping said yesterday.

It said the figures are the first published for Japan since the war.—Associated Press.

KRAMER GIVES HIMSELF FOUR MORE YEARS

(By BILL MACKLIN)

London, April 27.

Big Jack Kramer, who says he is well on the way to earning his second $100,000 playing professional tennis, concedes himself four more years in the big-time.

"When someone comes up who can beat me consistently," said Jack in an interview in London, "I'll retire from competitive play completely."

Kramer, who will be 28 on August 1, is acknowledged the best tennis player in the world today. He swept the amateur "Triple Crown" in 1947—winning the Wimbledon Championships, United States title and helping America hold the Davis Cup—and started to cash in with a Pro debut on December 26 that year.

How much longer can he reign? "If a guy lives a good clean life," he said, "and has the will to win, I think he could stay on top for 32. But it takes working at it, I have to ration my beers and lay off highballs."

Kramer brought his touring troupe, including Bobby Riggs, Dinny Pails and Pancho Segura, to Europe, March, from December 1947, through last month. Jack beat Riggs, his regular opponent, at least five out of six times. They have lost track of the exact figure on purpose.

New Opponent

The act needs to be freshened, with a new opponent for Kramer. He hopes that an amateur will capture the Triple Crown this summer and join the troupe.

Kramer rates Ted Schroeder on his short list of amateurs. Ted is a Californian who helped Kramer regain the Davis Cup from Australia in 1946. "Equal second," Kramer said, "are Pancho Gonzales and John Bromwich, who is coming out of Australia this year with nothing to lose and everything to gain. With no pressure on him, this might be John's year."

Gonzales is the 21 year old Yank who holds the three U.S. national titles—on grass, hard courts and indoors. In the next group down, Kramer places Bob Falkenburg, the American who won the 1949 Wimbledon Crown; Veteran Yank Frankie Parker and Jaroslav Drobny, the Czech left hander. "Drobny is the greatest player of the lot on any one day," Kramer said, "but unfortunately he can't play three tough matches in a week like you have to do at Wimbledon."

Pot Of Gold

For one of them there's a pot of gold awaiting—if he can only prove supreme as an amateur during the next six months. "I'll show him my bank account," said Jack, "and I don't think I'll have any trouble getting him to turn pro. I made $5,000 the first year."

Kramer thinks English fans are the most enthusiastic in the world, and he's played on four continents. From a world point of view, Kramer ranks tournaments in this order of importance: 1. Wimbledon, 2. The Davis Cup, 3. United States singles at Forest Hills, New York, 4. Pacific South West Championships at Los Angeles, with the French and Australian Championships tied for fifth.—Associated Press.

CHINA MAIL

HONG KONG, THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1949.

Joe Louis May Come In Mid-May

Every effort is being made by local boxing promoters to arrange for Joe Louis, retired undefeated heavyweight champion of the world, to visit Hong Kong during the middle of May.

This information was divulged to the "China Mail" yesterday by Mr. J. Rainey of the Golden Gloves, who said that Louis had been contacted and had expressed a keen desire to come here.

"There are, however, certain difficulties in the way and if these can be overcome, there is no reason why Hong Kong should not have an opportunity of seeing the 'Brown Bomber' in the flesh," declared Mr. Rainey.

If the plans which are now in an embryonic stage come to fruition, Louis will take part in a Charity Show, with the following well-known boxers appearing in preliminary bouts:

Ramsey Bucks, Kid Pedruco, Rocky Thompson, Barrago, Trent, Silva and Santos.

Louis is due to arrive in Manila on May 2 and to fight in a Charity Show at Rizal Stadium on May 5.

Mr. Rainey also revealed that Sam Pong, Middleweight Champion of Malaya, is also likely to be seen in action here next month.

A Friendly Soccer Game

A return friendly soccer match between the Marine Department XI and 25th RA has been arranged for today, at Gasoline Road, Kowloon, commencing at 5.30 p.m.

Among those who play for the Marine Department will be Li Tai-fai, Chinese Olympic footballer, Li Chun-fat, Chan Hing-chun, Kwok Cheuk-cheung, Chan Kam-pui and Hung Hing-yuk, stars of Kowloon Motor Bus and Chinese Athletics.

When they last met, the Marine Department went down to 25th RA by two goals to one in a fast and interesting game which was witnessed by one of the largest crowds ever to attend a soccer match at Gun Club Hill.

The 25th RA fielded eight players who had represented Army in the First Division of the Hong Kong Football League.

Today's game holds promise of being another rousing affair.

Where To Get Army Sports News

In future, all news regarding Army Sports fixtures may be obtained from Captain Chinnell, Staff Officer, Physical Training, Army Headquarters.

This information is contained in a letter written by the Public Relations Officer to those Chinese newspapers which enforced a blackout of news in regard to the visit and games of the Singapore Army Soccer XI over the Easter holidays.

The Chinese newspapers in question enforced the blackout of news because it was alleged that there had been discrimination in the dissemination of news relative to the visit of the Singapore Army Soccer XI.

The letter from the Public Relations Officer reads: "We thank you for your letter of April 21 and for the courtesy of the explanation of the circumstances which led to your decision. For the future, information regarding Army Sports fixtures may always be obtained from Captain Chinnell, Staff Officer, Physical Training, Army Headquarters."

NIMBUS WINS 2,000 GUINEAS

Newmarket, April 27. Getting up in the last stride, Mrs. M. Glenister's Nimbus beat the favourite, Major MacDonald-Buchanan's Abernant by a short head in a photo-finish to win the Two Thousand Guineas, the first classic of the British turf season, run over a mile here today. Mr. H. Lane's Barnes Park, a 100 to 1 outsider and the sole Northern challenger, finished a further four lengths away, third of 13 runners. Nimbus, by Neneo out of Kong, was ridden by Channing Elliott and started at 10 to 1 against. A special place betting of 7 to 4 against was paid on Nimbus. Abernant, who just failed to become the first grey winner since Mister Jinks in 1929, started at 5 to 4.—Reuter.

1956 Olympiad To Be Decided

Rome, April 29. The decision on the site for the 1956 Olympic Games will be made on Friday when the International Olympic Committee, at present in session here, cast their votes in a secret ballot. The Melbourne invitation Committee will argue their case on Thursday afternoon, emphasizing the natural facilities of their city. Their nearest rival, a delegation from Detroit, will argue that they have been asking for the Games for the past 10 years and have everything ready to house the 1956 Games.

Other cities seeking to stage the Games are San Francisco, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Minneapolis, Buenos Aires and Mexico City.—Reuter.

DODGERS WHIP BRAVES, 5-2

New York, April 27. The Brooklyn Dodgers pulled the first triple play of the major League baseball season yesterday and fiddled flawlessly to whip the Boston Braves 5-2.

Brooklyn held its half game lead in the National League.

At Philadelphia, Del Ennis slammed an 11th inning home run with one on to give the Phillies a 12-11 slugfest triumph over the New York Giants. Cincinnati at St. Louis was postponed, due to rain, Chicago and Pittsburgh were not scheduled. In the American League, rookie infielder Garry Coleman homered in the eighth inning with a man on base to give the New York Yankees a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Manager Lou Boudreau hit his first homer of the season as his Cleveland Indians defeated the St. Louis Browns 1-0.

Boudreau's long hit was one of only four hits allowed by Reds Embree, who was charged with the loss.

In a doubleheader at Chicago, the Detroit Tigers defeated the White Sox 6-2 and 7-5 because of the heavy hitting of the Detroit rookie sensation, Johnny Groth.

WOLVES Vs. LEICESTER ON SATURDAY

(By ALCYDES)

The long trail to Wembley ends on Saturday when Wolverhampton, the favourites, enter the arena with Leicester City. There is nothing to compare in the soccer world with a FA Cup Final at the stadium, with its billiard table like surface playing pitch and its teaming thousands thronging the terraces. Yes, undoubtedly this is the game of the season in English football.

Little doubt exists in my mind that the Cup will go to the Midlands in the safe custody of the Wolves. To me it looks as though it will be a rather one-sided affair—I may be wrong of course—one may reflect on how Leicester romped away with their title in their match with Portsmouth in the semi-final. At Wembley, in the semi-final, Wolves have my bet in this game.

By their win at Bolton last Saturday, Pompey have put the leadership issue in league one beyond dispute. I think every one will agree that they are worthy of the honour over their season's displays, with not an outstanding player among them but a team who has played as one man. This week they entertain Huddersfield who are really in a desperate plight and will need every point they can obtain if they wish to avoid relegation. I fear though there is little hope of points coming their way from Fratton Park, and it will mean just another nail for their coffin.

Home Team Favoured

Middlesbrough and Sheffield United both involved in the relegation battle oppose each other on the former's ground this week and I am rather inclined to favour the chances of the Home team. It is certainly a mix-up at the bottom of this table.

Preston may well save their higher league status with a win over Bolton, at home this week. In Division II, the pace is still a hot one, with Southampton Fulham and West Bromwich Albion battling in out for promotion. This week Soton are away to Chesterfield, and on recent showings will do well to come away with a point. Fulham's match with Spurs at White Hart Lane provides the highlight of this league on Saturday.

Light of this league on Saturday and past record reveal that the Cottagers have only lost there once in the last six games. I'm tipping the promotion aspirants, anyway.
